

VALUE OF HEALTH SYSTEMS DURING THE PANDEMIC

Integrated health systems can have the critical scale, resources and expertise needed to decrease costs and enhance quality for patients and communities

Ability to respond rapidly to evolving pandemic – standing up testing sites and now vaccine sites

Staffing, equipment and supply flexibility

Scale allowed purchases of needed supplies

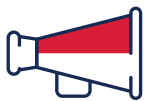

Advance other clinical services

Provide alternative sites of care

Filling gaps in public health infrastructure

Drive change in social justice and health equity

Provide other core wellness and community resources
